

Press release 2008-07-10

Inferno Intenso approved for use by U.S. Department of State

Inferno's Sound Barriers have recently passed stringent U.S. Department of State (DOS) tests for high security applications.

"This is a milestone for us", says Dr. Maurice Goldman, MD Indusec North America, "Inferno's effective patented technology will be used to increase security at U.S. State Department facilities world wide".

"Inferno has once again passed major security requirements, this time the rigorous tests of U.S. Department of State", says Johan Sandberg, MD at Indusec. "We are very proud that our Inferno Sound Barriers will be part of their security solutions."

Indusec is a world leader in high efficiency and advanced audio and light security products and systems, and less lethal Security Barriers. The focus is to develop and sell Inferno Sound Barriers and Inferno Light Barriers that are exceptionally well suited for specific security applications. It ranges from regular intrusion sirens to advanced warning devices.

For further information, please contact:

Johan Sandberg, Managing Director, Indusec AB

+46 8 446 18 30

johan.sandberg@inferno.se

www.inferno.se

Dr. Maurice Goldman, Managing Director, Indusec North America

+1 631 235 9500

Maurice@inferno.se

